Collecting

The Tinplate front scoop excavator, K77, could move sand mountains without the operator working up a sweat because there was a battery in the rear that provided energy for the movements ...

The large models look a bit different almost 60 years later. CCM presents a model of the Caterpillar D10T in 1:24 as the largest currently in their series of white metal die cast models. We opened all doors and lids and took a peek inside ...

Models

IMC Models has released the attractive Nootboom OVB-95-07 Ballast Trailer set, including load, and a Mercedes-Benz Actros 6x4 tractor ...

The Liebherr HS 8100HD from NZG is an evolution from the HS 855HD and comes with three different tools. The diaphragm wall grabber is an especially great discovery and quite a few collectors took a shine to it ...

Current

Wilfried Schreiber takes us once again on a time trip back to the 60s introducing us to two Hanomag machines on his church construction site ...

The work that some collectors undertake to build their dioramas can be extensive. It is possible to do it with less effort and to take attractive pictures of your different models. Markus Lindner describes how ...
