

Collecting

Fritz Hanish belongs to a younger generation of collectors. Despite his age, he has already amassed a very impressive collection containing some jewels from the mining sector ...

The family firm of Liebherr proves that their astute model production policies are also beneficial for collectors. Collectors profit through the high quality models on offer, a good example of which is the Liebherr A 920 Litronic from Conrad ...

Models

At the same stand we discovered the Liebherr LTC 1045-3.1. Our crane specialist, Carsten Bengs puts the model under the magnifying glass ...

With the surface finishers Vögele Super 1800-3 and 1803-3, WSI is stepping into virgin territory. We were curious to find out if both models would fulfill collectors' wishes for super detailing while retaining a satisfying amount of functionality ...

Current

Competition for the world's largest dozer came to an end a few years ago. In this last installment of our series about the big dozers we take a closer look at three more models ...

Conversion specialist Urs Peyer has a hankering for special machines. To show off this impressive forestry machine complete with a processor head, he built the Caterpillar 330D adding parts from two more models ...
